2. Harvard Ave. Trail Entrance: The limited access paved service road connects to the Crum Woods Service Road entrance and the Crum Meadow entrance.

3. Crum Meadow Entrance:

Located at the end of Field House Lane at the Sargent Road Marker (S1), the entrance has an brochure box for the meadow's Holly Collection. (If Harvard Avenue was used as the trail entrance, there are shorter route options to return to Harvard via other connecting trails off Field House Lane.)

5. Holly Collection: A Scott Arboretum collection with over 350 different types of hollies that is considered to be one of the finest collections in the country.

6. Crumhenge: The large stones in a circular arrangement were installed in the 1980s and reinstalled in the meadow after the construction of the Crum Creek SEPTA bridge. In this space often used for bonfires, the paths align with compass points.

7. Valley Walk marker V13: The trail continues to markers V14–16 to the south or V12 to the north.

8. Signpost V16/G2. This juncture is at the culvert on the Valley Walk V16 and the Asa Gray (G2) path at the bottom of a delightful brook.

9. Crum Woods Service Road

Entrance: Known as the Asa Gray Entrance (G1), this gravel road incline follows a babbling brook. For an alternate route, continue north to Field House Lane.

10. Wister Garden. W1 marks the entrance to this hillside woodland garden that once was part of the home of Scott Arboretum's first director, John C. Wister. Managed by the Scott Arboretum, it is a spring garden highlighted by sweeps of bulbs and rhododendrons.
